Helen Gould Shepard has returned from her wedding trip.

Gaylor M. Saltsaber, of Ohio, has been appointed Commissioner of Pensions.

Joplin, Mo., has an old and forgotten ordinance which prohibits the throwing of rice and shoes at wedding couples and the Chief of Police says he is going to enforce it.

Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, is on trial in Chicago for violations of the White Slave law. Harry A. Parkin, assistant federal attorney, in addressing the jury declared that he would prove that while playing a vaudeville engagement Johnson was living with three white girls in the same city, and that he took them about the country with him. These women, Parkin declared, were Belle Schreiber, a girl named "Hattie" and Etta Duryea, whom Johnson later married and who subsequently killed herself while despondent over the ignominy of her life with the negro.

For the Weak and Nervous.

Tired-out, weak, nervous men and women would feel ambitious, energetic, full of life and always have a good appetite, if they would do the sensible thing for health—take Electric Bitters. Nothing better for the stomach, liver or kidneys. Thousands say they owe their lives to this wonderful remedy. Mrs. O. Rhine-vault, of Vestal Center, N. Y., says: "I regard Electric Bitters as one of the greatest gifts. I can never forget what it has done for me." Get a bottle for yourself and see what a difference it will make in your health. Only 50c and $1.00. Recommended by all druggists.

SENATOR BRADLEY SEEKS LAD FOR NAVAL ACADEMY

At His Wits' End, For One Applicant Failed To Pass The Test.

Washington, May 9.—"Wanted—A Kentucky youth who can pass the entrance examinations to Annapolis.—W. O. Bradley."

The above ad represents the state of Senator Bradley's mind. He is extremely desirous of finding a boy who can take advantage of the vacancy in Kentucky's Naval Academy allotment over the failure of Robert G. James, of Louisville, to pass the physical examination. Young James, who is the son of R. I. James, passed the rest of the tests, but failed on the physical test because of a disease of the teeth. Under treatment his defect may be overcome within a year.

"These examinations are very severe," said Senator Bradley. "The minimum and maximum ages are 16 to 20; minimum height, five feet four inches; minimum weight, 105 lbs."

Best Medicine For Colds.

When a doctor recommends a remedy for colds, throat and lung troubles, you can feel sure that he knows what he is talking about. C. Lower, druggist, of Marion, Ohio, writes of Dr. King's New Discovery: "I know Dr. King's New Discovery is the best throat and lung medicine I sell. It cured my wife of a severe bronchial cold and all other remedies failed." It will do the same for you if you are suffering with a cold or any bronchial, throat or lung cough. Keep a bottle on hand all the time for everyone in the family to use. It is a home doctor. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Must Answer Questions.

After a conference with President Wilson's postmaster General Harrison announced that all fourth-class postmasters now in office, or all candidates for appointment to those offices be subjected to a competitive examination.

EASY WAY TO MAKE $25,000

Prove This Simple Little Mathematical Proposition and the Neat Fortune is Yours.

Readers who are especially gifted in mathematics will be interested, if not allured, by the apparently simple way to make a fortune that the London Sphere points out.

Twenty-five thousand dollars awaits the student who will prove a proposition of the French mathematician, Fermat, who lived about 250 years ago. The prize will remain open to all comers for a century.

Prof. G. A. Miller, who told of it in a recent address on modern mathematical research, not unreasonably fears that such a large inducement may set all sorts of mediocre mathematicians to wasting their time on the problem.

The proposition to be proved is that the sum of no two powers except squares is itself a power of the same degree. Sums of squares are often squares. For instance, the square of three is nine, and that of four is sixteen. Add sixteen and nine and you have twenty-five, which is the square of five. But this has never been found to be true for cubes or fourth powers, or any powers above squares, and Fermat asserted that no such cases would or could be found.

He proved it, too—at least he said he had done so—but his proof is lost, and no one has ever recovered it or discovered another, although proofs have been found for definite powers. Some of the world's greatest mathematicians have worked on the problem.

WAS JAPANESE FOR MANDOLIN

Onoto Watanna's Blonde Typist as Constructed "Maudlin" in the Story Writer's Copy.

Onoto Watanna, who writes Japanese stories, employs a typist, a gum-chewing, be-puffed and hobbled blonde. A day or two ago this capable young person came to the word "maudlin" in a page of copy which she was transcribing. On the typewritten sheet this word appeared as "mandolin."

"Did I write that word?" the author asked the typist.

"No, you didn't," said the other, with evident pride in having caught and detected an error. "You wrote it 'm-a-u-d-l-i-n,' but I seen it and changed it."

"Yes, but that is the way I want it written, 'maudlin' and not 'mandolin,'" insisted the author.

"Oh, I understand now," was the answer. "I play the mandolin myself, and I see now the other's the Japanese word for it."

FOR EXAMPLE.

"Professor, how do you define 'Attic salt'?"
"Oh, it's a refined sort of—but let me give you an illustration. Suppose you wished to convey the idea that a certain office holder is the ultimate, the ne plus ultra, the limit, as it were, in supervacuousness and general ineptitude; you would say, 'He isn't worth his chloride of sodium.'"

PUT UP OLD ONES FOR SALE.

On the train out Medford way Subbubs got into conversation with a stranger who remarked: "I see you are putting up a good many new buildings."
"Yes," answered Subbubs, "new buildings are the only kind we put up."—Boston Evening Transcript.

"Why has Gayboy quit all his clubs?"
"He heard that his wife posed as an interesting widow at several recent social affairs."

SO LIKE.

He—What lovely flowers! Don't you know, they remind me of you.
She—They are artificial flowers.
He—Yes, I know it, but it requires close examination to detect it.

Kansas Farmer Wins Friendly Argument Relative to Merits of Iowa and Kansas.

Two farmers, one from northern Kansas and one from the swamp drained section of Iowa, got into a friendly argument about the merits of their respective states. It was on a home-seekers' train bound for southern Texas. A crowd of excursionists soon gathered to listen.

"Kansas raises more wheat to the acre than any state in the Union," said the Kansan.

"Iowa beats the world for corn," replied the Iowan.

"Kansas is the wealthiest state," retorted the Jayhawker.

Back and forth the statistical statements flew until both men's supplies were exhausted. The Iowan had scored last and the Kansan looked glum. Then one of the listeners went to his assistance.

"I'm a Kansas man myself," he said. "You've forgotten our educational facilities."

"There you are," shouted the Jayhawker, now jubilant. "No states can beat Kansas for educational facilities. Why, we have more school-houses per capita than any state in the world."

That won the argument.

BUOYS LIGHTED BY WIRELESS

German Inventor Declares That Currents Properly Attended Will Turn on the Light.

A German inventor, Grimmeisen, claims to have found a method for using wireless waves in the best manner for lighting up distant lamps, either electric or gas lamps, by the use of an accurately tuned wireless receiver at each lamp so that it is sensitive to only one wave pitch and no others.

The wireless waves act upon a receiver combined with a local relay for working an electromagnetic switch so as to turn on the current or gas as the case may be.

This idea is in itself not a new one, as we are already familiar with wireless distant control devices, but the originality lies in the close tuning of the receivers so that only a given wave frequency will work them. The device will thus be a valuable one for seacoast lights, and especially for light buoys.

Before this sea cables were run from the buoys to shore so as to stand the severe strain of the waves, on the new plan a battery can be used in the buoy, and the current be turned on by wireless.

STORY JONES TELLS.

One night after saying her prayers before going to bed a six-year-old girl astonished her mother by innocently asking:

"Mother, who is Old Man Snuckles?"

"Why, my child, I never heard of a man by that name."

"Oh, yes, mother," said the child, "there must be some such man, for I pray for him every night."

"Pray for Old Man Snuckles, my child? Why, what do you mean?"

"Why, yes, mother. You know I pray for God to bless father and mother, brother and sister and 'Old Man Snuckles.' Who is he?"

Her mother saw by and by that it meant "All my aunts and uncles," which if repeated quickly sounds like "Old Man Snuckles."

MEANEST MAN FOUND.

"Old Man" Curtis, a character long familiar to the people of New Milford Conn., has been sent to the poorhouse despite the fact that his son, William Curtis, who lives near there, is one of the wealthiest farmers in the section and reputed to be worth $80,000. The son said that he let his father go to the almshouse because, when a small boy, his father forced him to work and then took every cent of his pay.

"Old Man" Curtis said his son was "too mean to give him a meal without making a fuss over it like it was a million dollars."—New York American.

WILL RESTORE OLD CHURCH.

A 600-year-old church, that of St. John the Baptist, in the county of Ayr, Scotland, known as Fort Castle, and which had been advertised for sale and was in danger of demolition, has been purchased for £1,950 by the marquis of Bute, who will preserve it. The church was built in the thirteenth century, and in it the Scottish parliament settled the succession of the Scottish crown after the battle of Bannockburn in 1314.
